COLUMBIA HAS CLOSE CALL, BEATING WILLIAMS 5 TO Q.

Field Partly Under Water, and a Makeshift Gridiron Neccesary-Harvard coumbs to Amherst by a Score of 5 to 0 in a Rough, Slugging Game.

The football conflicts of vesterday brought result which was not only a surprise, but a great surprise. Harvard was the victim of it, being beaten 5 to 6 by Amherst. Columbia went against an active, well drilled am in Williams, had a close call, but won. team in Williams, had a close comment in revealing hitherto undisclosed Columbia imperfections, and it gave Columbia a chance to show that she could rally when hard pressed. Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania all won by comfortable scores. Yale encountered a beavy team, and learned there was need for improvement. Princeton showed quality by disposing of Brown. Annapolis played her arst game, and won from the University of Virginia. West Point found a lively oppo-nent in Dickinson, as did Cornell in Colgate. Lafayette had an easy time with Susquehanna Results:

COLUMBIA, 5: WILLIAMS, 0. Columbia's football team ran against the stiffest opposition yesterday it has had this season,and after being outplayed by Williams in the first half squeezed out a 5 to 0 victory by a brace in the second half. The game was played under remarkable conditions. When teams and spectators arrived at the Polo Grounds they saw that fully half of the ground was under water. The water was three feet deep in places and extended from the Eighth avenue side, reaching clear across the field and half way up to the grand stand. The goal posts were in water and at least a third of the gridiron was submerged. The teams had to improvise dressing rooms under the grandstand, and a rowboat was hired to negotiate the impromptu lake. There was a good deal of interest in the contest, the attendance was large and coaches and managers were at their wits' ends to hit upon some scheme whereby a game could be played and the players not get thoroughly soaked by plunging into the lake. It was finally decided to move the playing space over nearer to the grandstand and rope off a new gridiron. Much time was lost in doing this as the whitewash marks had to be extended. Owing to the water at either end the playing space was shortened ten yards. Even the temporary gridiron was partially under water, and whenever the progress of play brought the ball near the water's edge it was carried over a few yards in order to prevent scrimmages in the wet.

It was a clean game, with both sides very sportsmanlike. Those who expected to see the amphibious abilities of the teams tested were disappointed, as the ball was kicked into the water only twice, and then the effect was as though it had been kicked out of bounds. In fact, the water formed a boundary, narrowing the width of the field at both ends and handicapping the attack of both elevens.

The Williams students entertained the crowd with a vocal concert between halves, and when play began Columbia entertained it with some telling offensive play. The kick-off gave the ball to R. Jones, who came back ten yards. The tandem helped Duell to two yards, Bishop worked an end for two more, J. Thorp plugged the centre for eight and Duell skipped by Williams's right tackle for an additional eight. From her own 15-yard line to Williams's 20-yard line Columbia marched in journeys of varying length, but at the latter station the Williams forwards gritted their teeth and held Columbia for downs. Watson punted to Jones in midfield and Columbia, in spite of stubborn opposition, renewed her effective attack. Although penalized once twenty yards for holding and bent back once or twice for no gain, the Morningside men had the bit in their teeth, and the reward came when Smith, by a one-yard plunge, scored a touchdown. No goal was attempted on account of the water around the goal posts. Gutterson made a twenty-yard end run before the game ended, but Columbia had Williams on the defensive for most of the remaining time.

AMHERST, 5: MARVARD, 0.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 10.—For the first time on Soldiers' Field Harvard was defeated at football to-day, and it was Amherst that did it. The boys in purple and white scored 5 points on Harvard, while Harvard did not score. Harvard was humiliated extremely by her defeat. The entire undergraduate body, as well as the players themselves, feel the defeat keenly. The eleven was clearly outplayed in the second hair of the game and beaten fairly. To be sure, Amherst's score was in the nature of a fluke, but that fluke was enough to win. In the first half Umpire Herbert Holton gave a decision which, it is contended, deprived Harvard of a touchdown. Harvard had the ball on the 3-yard line and carried it over. In the play Chase, Amherst's left end, got off side, purposely, some believe, so that if Harvard carried the ball over the distance and have to rush over. The man was seen offside, and Umpire Holton blew his whistle. He called the ball back and made Harvard take half the distance to the goal line. The Amherst captain insisted on the penalty being inflicted against his team. There was a dispute, and when the officials could not find the rule which covered the point, acting Capt. Bowditch of Harvard, rather than have the men stand around in the cold, admitted the penalty. On the next AMHERST, 5; HARVARD, 0.

IN THE FOOTBALL WORLD. play Hurley fumbled while going across the goal line. The rule on the point is a note to Rule 28 and it reads: Whenever a foul is committed, which, in the opin-ion of the umptre, did not affect the play the offended side may decline the penalty. In case of a run made from this play, not more than twenty-five yards from the spot where the foul was committed shall be allowed.

Amherst was royally supported by a small crowd of rooters, and when the touchdown was made by Coggeshall on a blocked kick they yelled like mad. After the game they rushed onto the field, accompanied the team to the locker building, and there held a demonstration. The game was the roughest that has been played this season, and it is doubtful if a rougher one has ever been played on Soldiers' Field. Both sides fought and slugged whenever they got a chance, and two men one from each side, were sent to the side lines for this offence. Hurley went to the Harvard side and Shay to the Amherst. Harvard lost the game because of her repeated fumbling and because she could not kick.

New Haven, Oct. 10.—Yale to-day got the trying out she has been longing for, and it came with such thoroughness that the Yalelcoaches found that the games their team has played thus far this season counted for little or nothing. The husky Springfield Training School team, playing their first game of the season, held the Blue down to four touchdowns in the longest game Yale has played this fall. The score was 22 to 0. From the very start Yale found she was up against it. The visitors got through Yale inside her ends, and in fact there was not a place in the Yale line which at some stage in the game was not hit for a gain. The first half yielded the visitors approximately thirty yards on rushes. The second half found the Springfield team a little weak, but they rushed for a good ten yards in the aggregate. Yale was forced to use the tackle plunge in midfield. The tackle back formation failed to give Yale the big gains it has previously done this year. Springfield's captain was forced to retire because of an injury to his head. Lewis, the old Harvard player, watched the game to get a line on Yale.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 10.—On a field muddy in the extreme and watersoaked, the Cornell eleven defeaed Colgate to-day by the score of 12 to 0. Despite the mud and slippery field, the game was a brilliant exhibition of football, and there were some clever end runs and very little fumbling. Cornell scored once in each half, and Brewster kicked both goals. While it was manifest that the Ithacans were superior from the outset, the "Soapmakers" fought every inch of ground, while their attack was stronger than any eleven with which Capt. Hunt's men have had to contend.

On several occasions they made as much as thirty yards consecutively by plunges as thirty yards consecutively by plunges through the line, while early in the first half they carried the ball to Cornell's 15-yard line. Cornell's team work was a big improvement, while the line played low and hard. Brew-

In the first home game of the season, the New York University eleven defeated the Trinity College team of Hartford yesterday at Ohio Field by a score of 35 to 5. Notwithstanding a slight superiority in the weight of the Trinity team, the visiting backs found a stiff proposition in the New York line, while the home team battered Trinity for continual gains. With the exception of a 40-yard quarter back run by Allen, which gave Trinity a touchdown, the New York team held their opponents down to small gains, taking the ball on downs repeatedly. The star playing of the day was done by McDowell, New York's right half back, who made five runs of over forty yards and scoring two touchdowns after sensational runs of seventy yards each.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 10—The Naval Academy football team opened its season this afternoon by defeating the eleven of University of Virginia by a score of 6 to 5. The scoring was done in the first half. The midshipmen made the first tally, Reese, right guard, getting the ball on a fumble and running forty yards for a touchdown. Strassburger kicked the goal. Shortly after this Virginia forced the Navy to kick. In a series of line plunges in which Capt. Johnson, Council and Watkins figured prominently, the ball was worked steadily down into Navy territory, and Council was pushed over from the 2 yard line for a touchdown. The ball was punted out for a try for goal, but Watkins booted the leather wild. Virginia gained considerably more ground than the home team in the first half, but in the second half the Navy took a decided brace. ANNAPOLIS, 6: VIRGINIA, WEST POINT, Oct. 10.—West Point had a hard struggle to-day to defeat Dickinson by a score of 12 to 0. The first part of the game was played in the rain, resulting in many fumbles on both sides. Dickinson excelled in quickness of play However, she never threatened West Point's goal. On account of slowness of play, the latter failed to make a third touchdown, although when time was called the ball was on Dickinson's 10-vard line. For West Point Graves was shifted to guard and Doe to tackle. Shute was tried at centre, but did not show up very well, making a poor pass that cost West Point fifteen yards.

The field was muddy, and its condition made snappy play inpossible, though there was a freedom from fumbling on both sides which was remarkable under the circumstances. In the second half St. John's twice had the ball inside the visitors' 5 yard line. CARLISLE, 30; P. AND M., O.

The boxing season, which began on Oct is well on at present in England. London, the Mecca for pugilists of high and low deand some of the contests are exciting enough to satiate the appetites of the most exacting. The advent of a number of well known American boxers has helped the sport not a little in taking on a new lease of life. Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia is the fistic star in England just now. O'Brien is well liked in England, and, if he cared to, could command plenty of backing. Only the other day he received an offer from an English dmirer to set him up as a "pub" on a lavish scale. O'Brien declined with thanks, informing his man that he intended leaving for America in the near future. O'Brien went to England for the purpose of engaging in a fight with Jack Palmer, the English middleweight champion. The battle was to have been held at the National Sporting Club, London. Twice it was postponed, and then abandoned for good, no good reason being advanced. But there is till a prospect of the two coming together if the letter from Palmer to the London Sporting Life means anything:

self and O'Brien to box at catchweights, I will box O'Brien at 11 stone 4 pounds (158 pounds) the middleweight limit, weigh in at 2 o'clock on the day of the fight, for £200 a side and the best purse obtainable. As regards meeting O'Brien at catchweights, why should I give away even a stone to O'Brien! If weight makes no difference why does he not challenge Jim Jeffries?

weights, why should I give away even a stone to O'Brien! If weight makes no difference why does he not challenge Jim Jeffries!

Andrew Tokell, who fought Harry Forbes in this country for the bantam title of the world, but who was recently defeated by Harry Ware on a foul, has challenged the latter for a return bout. Tokell writes that he is willing to box Ware 20 rounds for $2,500 a side. He insists, however, that four ounce gloves be used.

A large number of spectators attended the preliminary and final bouts for the championships in the army's gymnasium, Aldershot. The show began on the afternoon of Sept. 24, and it required almost two succeeding afternoons before the entries were exhausted. Over 150 names were received. The winners were: Featherweight, Driver W. Himphen, 129th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, lightweight, E. S. J. Kirke, Royal Engineers, middleweight, Lieut, J. R. Simpson, Second Highland Light Infantry, heavyweight, Private T. Harris, Second Essex Regiment.

George Dixon, who is still in London, fought a slashing 20 round draw with Billy Barrett, also from this side. The encounter was full of action and showed that Dixon has not lost any of his cleverness. He hit Barrett almost at will, but strength and endurance were lacking. Barrett took a severe gruelling. Kid Davis of America, who while in England has done excellent work, added another right to his credit by whipping George Phelam of Birmingham. They met at Birmingham on Sept. 23 in a 15 round bout, and Davis was declared the winner in the eighth round. Pat Daly, who disputes Jabez White's claim to the lightweight championship of Lingland, has issued a challenge to meet White or anybody in the world at 138 pounds for a purse and side bet of not less than $1,000. Daly, who went from this country, says he will fight in America if sufficient inducements are advanced. He prefers a mill with Joe Gans, and thinks the National Sporting Club will give a good sized purse if a fight is arranged.

The London Sporting Life is authority for the statement that foung Corbett contemplates a trip to London soon. This paper says the coming of the champion will be only in the nature of a pleasure trip and that he will not do any fighting. Regarding Ben Lordan's visit to this country, the Sporting Life says the Englishman has accepted all the terms and will sail on receipt of expense money.

In the receipts, however, is included $211.51 balance from 1902, so that the actual financial status of the season of 1903 shows a net deficit of $52.52.

SMALL FIELDS AT MATINEE.

MALZOUR TAKES AXTELLO AND ILDERIM INTO CAMP.

Speciators Enthuse Over Close Ra Empire City Park—Strong Wind Too Much for the Crack Trotter Axtelle -West Wilkes Beaten by Jelly Bachelor

The clerk of the weather was not incline to smile upon the efforts of the race committee to arrange an attractive card for the fourteenth meet of the New York Driving Club at Empire City Park yesterday. Many of the horses had been taken to the Speed in the interval caused by the automo meet that let one matinée go over. The storm of the last few days made it impracticable for the owners to get the horses back to the Empire stables in time to start vesterday. For these reasons the programme of nine races shrunk to six when the card-was finally cleared, but some of the contests made up in excitement all that was lacking in number. This was also true of the specual and the demonstrations of approval at some of the head and head finishes would have, enthusiasm began before the first race was finished. It was not due to sensational time, but to two horses so closely matched in speed that a large blanket would have covered them from start to finish in the third heat. When each owner began using the whip as the two horses struggled head and head the crowd shouted approval, each owner getting about an equal share.

Class B for trotters proved the star event of the day. Axtello, who stood first in the list of heat winners for the season cup, was driven by A. E. Perren. He went the second quarter in the high wind in 32½, but it proved too much of an exertion, and when the others collared him in the homestretch and the whips began to crack, the crowd shouted as the three horses struggled heads apart under the wire, Malzour, Ilderim, Axtello, Malzour proved the winner of the blue ribbon.

The A. A. championship race for trotters was a disappointment, as only Jolly Bachelor, 2:11, and West Wilkes, 2:13½, were started, and the latter was in a sulky mood and would not try. Two weeks ago he was a winner and trotted the first mile easily in 2:11½.
